Here you will find information about the Royal Collection, past and present. The Taj Mahal (pronounced / taj mə'hɑ:l/, Urdu: اتجمال tāj mə'hɑl/) is a mausoleum in Agra, India, in the Agra Fort. It is the world's largest monument dedicated to love. The building was begun by Mughal emperor Shah Jahan in 1632 and completed by his son, Shah Jahan II in 1648. The completion of the Taj Mahal was a symbol of the union between the Indian and Persian royal houses and a sign of the prominence of the Mughal dynasty in the Indian subcontinent and the Empire of Iran. The Taj Mahal is part of the UNESCO World Heritage List. The Gate of the Tomb of Mumtaz Mahal is one of the most visited monuments of the world. The Taj Mahal was inspired by the great Mogul caravanserai at Samarkand. The building is a white marble enclosure surrounding a large central courtyard. It was built as a tomb for Mumtaz Mahal, the first wife of Shah Jahan. The Taj Mahal was modeled on the caravanserai, which in turn was modeled on the courts of Timur (Tamerlane) and Genghis Khan. The Taj Mahal is a UNESCO World Heritage Site. The Taj Mahal is the greatest masterpiece of Mughal architecture 2d92ce491b
