LinkSidebar is a lightweight tool to collect all the hyperlinks in the currently visited website. It displays all the links that are contained in the web page and also gives you the possibility to filter and analyse them. It also allows you to search for a string of text that you entered in the URL field of your browser and check if it is enclosed in double quotes. Les ateliers are deutsches Werkstätte, established in 1990, where the members combine media in craft, in technology and the passion for the handwork. In our work we wish to focus on the handwork, the natural and the mishap. The solar system is the object of the object. Materiality, the body, the surface. The information is a blend of the average and the high. The mental reprogramming is the action. Our quest is the wilderness, the lost trees, the sustainable way. Q: Is it possible to select SQL features in Access 2007 on top of SQL Server 2012 without having to be licensed for MSDE I have a client who wants to continue to use MSDE on SQL Server 2005 with SQL Server 2012. We need to install MSDE (free) on their Win7x64 laptop to use ODBC drivers from MS Access for it to talk to our SQL Server. MS Access is free to download on the laptop. We want to be able to select SQL Server features such as table indices, spatial extensions (if any) etc. for use in Access. I have seen other Access 2007 queries that seem to indicate that it is possible, but I wonder if this is possible if Access is not on SQL Server Express? Or is it possible if the Access installs on an SQL Express instance? As a side comment, I have installed MSDE on Windows7x64, SQL Server 2012 RTM, Access 2007 32-bit on a virtual machine and was able to connect to the SQL Server instance. A: Depending on your licensing plans I would suggest you go with Access 2007 and SQL Server Express. SQL Server Express is the full version of SQL Server, but is a free version so licensing shouldn't be an issue. You can download a Trial version that will run for 30 days

What's New in the LinkSidebar For Firefox?

"LinkSidebar for Firefox is a browser extension designed to help you in this respect since it can reveal all the links in the currently visited web page while also offering you the possibility of filtering and testing them." Q: Counting pairs of angles whose sum is  $2\pi$  (inside a circle) I can intuitively see that the number of pairs of angles (of the same length) with  $\theta_1 + \theta_2 = 2\pi$  in a circle is  $\frac{2\pi}{\pi} = 2$ . Now, I have tried to show it with coordinates, but I have failed. I would like to prove it without coordinates, if possible, and I would appreciate a hint or solution. I have tried to start with two circles at different angles  $\theta_1$  and  $\theta_2$  with radii  $r_1$  and  $r_2$  respectively, and then parameterize them as  $f_1(\theta) = r_1(\cos(\theta) + \sin(\theta))$  and  $f_2(\theta) = r_2(\cos(\theta) - \sin(\theta))$ . Now, my idea was to make an analogous of the change of variable  $u = \cos(\theta_2 - \theta_1)$  in the equation  $\int_{-\pi}^{\pi} \frac{1}{r_1^2 + r_2^2 - 2r_1r_2\cos(\theta_2 - \theta_1)} d\theta_1 = \int_0^{2\pi} \frac{1}{r_1^2 + r_2^2 + 2r_1r_2\cos(u)} du$ , and then find the limits of  $u$  - the end of the proof seems to be there, but I do not know how to use it. Thanks in advance! A: For any pair of angles,  $\phi$  and  $\theta$ , the angles are equal if and only if  $|\phi - \theta| = \frac{\pi}{2}$  or  $|\phi - \theta| = \pi$ . So there are 2 pairs with  $|\phi - \theta| = \pi$ , and there are 2 pairs with  $|\phi - \theta|$
